Proclamations and Presentations

A. 2018 Municipal Association of South Carolina Achievement Award – Bill Taylor, Field Services Representative, presented the award for the 1 – 1,000 population category on behalf of the Municipal Association of South Carolina. Mayor Darby accepted the award on the behalf of the Town and commended all involved in making the beach renourishment project so successful. The video shown at the MASC Annual Meeting was shown to those in attendance.

B. U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Coastal Storm Damage Reduction Project – Russ Rote and John Hinely gave a PowerPoint presentation which is attached to these minutes. John Hinely, Real Estate Specialist, addressed easements. A member of the audience, Mr. George Kostell asked Mr. Rote if other local coastal communities had started a similar project, and if so, would Mr. Rote provide pictures? Mr. Rote said that he would share pictures of Myrtle Beach and Folly Beach. Mr. Kostell asked that the pictures be posted on the Town's website. Mr. Tommy Mann asked how people would cross a 14-foot sand dune. Mr. Rote stated that he was unsure of the requirement. Mr. Mann said, "If you've got a dune and you can't cross it, you've got to go down to a beach access, you essentially have restricted access." Mr. Rote noted that some do build crossovers, and the park has a mat that provides access. An audience member asked what the cost would be per homeowner should the Town decide to move forward with the project. Mayor Darby answered, “Your tax money is what we have used up to this point. There has been no individual assessment up to this point. Sometime in the future there may have to be...as costs escalate, but to this point, we’ve managed to put together grant money, we save every year, we’re able to put back $200,000 amount of ATAX into beach nourishment and Colleton County has been a very good partner as well as the State Park. So we have been able to cover everything through public money rather than individual money.” Marie Bost asked, “Who is fronting the cost for the survey of the property, if you have a loan on the property it has to be released by the lender, and we’ve discussed this before, about some of these implications. I own a beachfront lot myself, but it has to be surveyed, the title has to be searched, to make sure I actually own it and didn’t give it to my children or whomever. It has to be recorded, it has to be released by the lender and good luck with as I call it Hell’s Fargo, to get them to release the loan, so there’s a lot more to this than just you know, we’re giving them whatever from the toehold of this to there. Who bears the cost? There’s thirty-six blocks, x number of properties.....” Mr. Rote stated, “One hundred and eighty-seven properties, and that’s where that million dollars of LLERDS is for. It’s for surveys, identifying the polygon or that piece of property where we would have to put sand on, and doing all the things you just said. It’s not for a purchasing fee of anything, I don’t believe, maybe temporary construction site.....but that million dollars is for those sorts of activities.” Ms. Bost, “So the attorneys and the title searches to make sure the person who owns the property really does own it?” Mr. Rote, “Right.” Ms. Bost, “Because we did run into that before, where a property owner had signed it, well she’d been dead ten years and....” Mr. Hinely stated, “They actually don’t require the bank to release the loan. Most of these easements have no value to them. We’re actually increasing the value of the property by protecting them.” Ms. Bost, “And the banks are ok with that?” Mr. Hinely, “In all the beaches I’ve ever done, we’ve never had to deal with anything like that...We want to make sure you have the right to sign. As far as lines and things like that, as long as you have the authority.” Mr. Rote, “That LLERDS, that million dollars covers those costs.” Mr. Hinely, “Most of that is all administrative – it’s the surveys (unintelligible).” Mayor Darby suggested that Ms. Bost ask any remaining questions after the meeting adjourned.

C. Five Year Service Award – Patrick Zemp - Mayor Darby presented Mr. Zemp with a certificate and pin and thanked him for five years of diligent service.

D. Starfish Award – Jill Deardorff – Mayor Darby recognized Ms. Deardorff for her service on the Municipal Elections Commission with a Starfish Award.
